To whom it may concern,

This letter grants all right and privileges of these photos, and the ownership of these photos is hereby handed over to the client at their own precaution. The recipient of this letter may print these photos at their own cost but they may not be altered, cropped, or edited in any way. Blush&Berry Photography is not liable for print quality of these photos.

I would like to express my thanks for your business and allowing me to capture your special memory! Please keep in mind the following guidelines to maintain respect for my business:

1. Pictures shared on social media including Facebook, Instagram, Twitter etc. must contain some kind of business photo credit by any of the following: including the URL link to my Facebook page facebook.com/blushandberryphotography, the link to my blog www.blushandberryphotography.com, tagging my B&B Instagram account @blushberryphotos, or tagging my name. If used in a FB album, a note in the album will suffice.
2. Please do not edit, recolor, crop etc. in any way the original photos in order to maintain the original artistic intent of the photographer.
3. I hope you enjoy the photos! Again, thank you so much for your business and please keep me in mind for any future photography needs!

God bless and many loves!
